

The provided map illustrates the current layout of an airport and plans for its development in the next year.

Overall, the area is projected to undergo dramatic changes, including the creation of new facilities and relocating some of the amenities provided in the area.

In the next year, the airport will witness the emergence of an additional departure gate and a new arrival gate in the south, a café, a ATM, and a section to hire a car on the east side of the area. Furthermore, a major change of the airport is going to be the creation of 10 additional gates in the north, where there are only 10 gates now.

It can be seen that the check-in section, located in the west, is planned to be demolished to make way for a bag drop section. It is also clear that the café, sited in the center of the area, will be relocated to the north-west side of the airport. Although the location of some of the facilities is planned to be changed, the security, customs, and two-pass port control sections will remain at their current positions in the center.
