

The given plans below illustrate the site of the airport and the changes proposed to it in the future. It can be seen that the changes proposed are for a better airport, and some facilities will be added for greater hospitalities.

At the present, the airport has two main sectors for departures and arrivals. The Departure sector has some sections like check-in, cafe, security, and passport control. The arrivals sector contains a passport control section and a customs section. These Two main sectors are connected to 8 gates by a walkway.

The future plans of the airport show that each of the main parts has two entrances. However, in the departure section, a bag drop and shops will be added. Instead, arrivals will be added to several facilities like cafe and ATM. In addition to this section in the right-hand corner will be expanded for car hire. The arrival sector and the departure sector will be connected to 18 gates by sky train.

Overall, the southwest airport will be based on better facilities for passengers in the future.
